IMPORTANT LEGAL DECISION.

In the Case of Prevost vs. Jam Yen Kwong and Hoy Jai Yen.

How Far Can a Merchant or Trader Count on His Liberty.

We insert below a judgment of the Hon. Mr. Justice Gray, delivered last month. It seems that the Chief Justice made an order for a writ of Ne. Ex. Reg. (which is in substance a chancery capias) to issue, marked to take bail for $5,000, upon which the first named defendant was arrested and is still confined in gaol. He applied to the Chief Justice to be set at liberty, and upon his application being refused appealed to the Divisional before Hons. Justices Crease and Gray. Justice Crease agreed with the Chief Justice, but Justice Gray was for discharging the appellant; yet the court being equally divided, the appeal fell to his ground. The question involved is a most important one as affecting the liberty of the subject, and we therefore feel justified in giving the judgment of Mr. Gray in full.

SUPREME COURT.

VICTORIA, 9th Oct., 1885.

DIVISIONAL COURT.--Before Hon. Mr. Justice Crease and Hon. Mr. Justice Gray.

Prevost vs. Jam Yen Kwong and Hoy Jai Yen. Judgment, Gray, J.

This is an appeal from an order made by the Chief Justice, on the 25th September last, refusing to rescind a previous order made by him on the 15th September, whereby a writ of ne exeat regno issued against the defendant, under which he was to be arrested, unless he gave bail or security to the extent of $5000. He was arrested, has been since in gaol, and is there now imprisoned. He appeals from that decision of the Chief Justice and demands his discharge. A brief statement of facts as they appear set forth in the affidavits used on the two hearings before the Chief Justice, and in the filed statement of case before this court, will facilitate the understanding of the principles of law hereafter applied to its consideration. By an order made by the Chief Justice in the case of Loo Cho Fan, plaintiff, and Loo Chock Fan, defendant, on the 22nd of May, 1885, James Charles Prevost, the plaintiff in the present suit, was made receiver without security of all the property and assets of Kwong Lee & Co., with full power to manage the business thereof, and for such purposes to employ such persons as he may think fit. On the 15th September, the said Receiver took out a summons against the present two defendants endorsed as follows: "The plaintiff's claim is for an account of the defendant's dealings with the estate of Kwong Lee & Co., from the 22nd day of May, 1885, to the 22nd of August, 1885, and that Her Majesty's writ of ne exeat regno may issue out of and under the seal of this honorable court to restrain the defendant from departing out of the jurisdiction of this honorable court." On the application on the same day to the Chief Justice for an order for the writ of ne exeat regno, the Chief Justice says: "Upon hearing Mr. Wilson for the plaintiff, and upon reading the affidavit of plaintiff, sworn the 15th September, 1885, and the writ of summons issued herein, on the said 15th September, this court doth order that a writ of ne exeat regno do issue against the defendants, Hoy Jai Yen, and Jam Kwong Yen, until the court make order to the contrary, and the said writ to be marked for security in the sum of $5000." On the 23rd of September the defendant Jam Yen Kwong having been arrested and imprisoned, applied to the Chief Justice to set aside this order, and on the 24th of September entered an appearance to the suit, the Chief Justice having refused to rescind his order.

The first order of the 15th of September was based on the affidavit of Mr. Prevost alone. No other evidence whatever being shown, or alleged to have been at that time brought before the Chief Justice. That affidavit states first that on the 22d May, 1885, he was appointed receiver of the estate of Kwong Lee & Co., in an action pending in the court, and in the performance of his duties continued the branch store of Kwong Lee & Co. in charge of the defendants; and on the 15th of September, commenced the present action to obtain an account of all moneys received by the defendants as his agents in the management of said branch store.

2. That defendants run or his control, as receiver, carried on the business of said branch store until the 22d August, and rendered no account.

3. That he had reason to believe, and did believe, that when defendants left the store, on or about the 22d of August, they took with them the books belonging to Kwong Lee & Co.; that he believed they were keeping out of his way, and he could obtain no information of their whereabouts.

5. That he had been informed that the defendants were about to depart for China by steamer to-morrow.

6. That from these facts he believed, that unless apprehended, the defendants would leave the jurisdiction of the court, and the moneys received by them would be lost to the estate.

On this application and on this affidavit the first order of the 15th September was made.

In reference to the appeal from this order there must be no confusion of ideas. The question is not, whether or not under the facts mentioned, the plaintiff might or might not, have been entitled to an account, but whether there was any legal ground for detaining, arresting or imprisoning the defendant, unless he gave bail or security to the extent of $5000, that he would not leave the country. Is there any fact disclosed that these defendants or either of them, at the time of issuing the writ were indebted to or had in their possession any of the property of the said estate, to the value of $100 or $1000? Is there any thing from which any estimate of value can be drawn? In the argument before the court it was urged that the receiver could not obtain the information because defendants had carried off the books, but that position, though it might excuse the plaintiff from being required to give an exact statement, does not exonerate him from giving some statement as to amount of value. The very first duty of a receiver (as of an administrator or executor) is to take an inventory of the property of the estate that comes into his hands. It is in this case more his duty; he is an officer of the court, a trustee selected by the court, from confidence in his experience and knowledge. It must therefore be presumed that he did his duty, and that he had a knowledge to some extent of the value of the goods that were in this branch store, goods that he himself as such receiver had entrusted and permitted the defendants to continue in possession of from May until August, and if they, by the abstraction of the books, prevent his knowing what was the exact amount left or not accounted for, he at any rate could have placed before the Chief Justice some estimate of value, and they could not complain of want of exactness, as by their own wrong they caused it. It was therefore not unreasonable, apart from all question as to what the law requires, that the defendant should have made an application to rescind that order.

The question now further comes up, whether on the hearing of that application, and the time then granted for the plaintiff to reply to the affidavit put in by the defendant, anything is shown which supplies the deficiency or cures the omission, if it be fatal.

The defendant Jam Yen Kwong, who was arrested, in his affidavit states, 1st that he is one of the defendants; 2nd, that he was employed as a porter in the branch store of Kwong Lee & Co. at Yale for two years and was so employed; 3rd, that he was not manager of the business at Yale, and had nothing to do with the keeping of books or receiving of money; 4, that he had not received any money belonging to the business; 5, that he never saw the plaintiff, nor had any communication with him, and never was requested by him to render any account to him; 6, that he left Yale because the Sheriff of New Westminster had sold everything belonging to Kwong Lee & Co., and he was thrown out of employment; 6, that there were six men employed at Kwong Lee's store at Yale; 7, he denies telling Lee Townsend or anyone else that he intended leaving the province of British Columbia; 8, that Joy Jai Yen, the other defendant, was Kwong Lee's book-keeper at Yale up to the time of closing the business. That they came to Victoria together, and Joy Jai Yen brought the business books with him, and that he believes they were then in Kwong Lee & Co's. store at Victoria.

In reply to this affidavit Long Tie on behalf of the plaintiff in his affidavit says: 1. That he was an employee of Kwong Lee & Co. prior to the 17th January, 1885, as interpreter at the Yale store, and to keep cash and keys of safe, at that time the defendant, Jam Kwong Yen was salesman, and when absent he left the keys of safe and cash in charge of Jam Kwong Yen. 2. That about 13 January, 1885, he left for Victoria, having first appointed Jam Kwong Yen to do the general work and set in his place and handed him the keys of the safe, and cash on hand, amounting to about $200. 3. That he returned to Yale about the 25th of July, and Jam Kwong Yen offered him the keys of the safe, which I told him to keep as the estate was in the hands of a receiver. 4. That he believes defendant's name is Jam Yen Kwong, not Jam Kwong Yen. 5. That he was at Yale when the two defendants left for Victoria, taking the books of Kwong Lee with them.

Tung Hai Yee in his affidavit swears:--1. That he was one of the employees of Kwong Lee; was book-keeper at Victoria previous to 15th February, 1885, and from correspondence with the Yale house learned that the keys of the safe and store were in charge of Jam Kwong Yen, and that he had charge of the books at Yale, though he did not keep them. 2. There was no other person in Kwong Lee's employment at Yale capable of discharging the important duties imposed upon Jam Kwong Yen. 3. The person having charge of the keys of the safe is the person having actual control of the affairs and precedes the book-keeper in rank.

Edward Hodges, swears that he was out of employment, and on the 12th of August, by instructions from Mr. Prevost went to Kwong Lee's branch store at Yale. 2. That he recognizes the man in gaol as, with another whose name he does not know, the parties apparently in charge of said branch store, and exercising a joint authority. 3. That his instructions from Mr. Prevost were to find out what had become of the books of Kwong Lee & Co., and of the cash that had been received since his appointment as receiver. That on asking for them Jam Kwong Yen, the man in gaol, went behind the counter, collected the books and handed them to him; I took them, says he, into a back room, accompanied by Jam Kong Yen, the other Chinaman referred to, and Long Tie, and the latter, the interpreter, informed me that a statement I required would be prepared by the other two the next day. Before statement was ready by instructions from Mr. Prevost, I returned to Victoria and left the books in charge of Jam Kwong Yen and the other Chinaman, who appeared with him to control the business. 4, by Mr. Prevost's instructions I enquired if they had any money. Jam Kwong Yen, before my departure handed me $105, at his request, to buy provisions. I returned him $5, and gave him a receipt for $100, for which I accounted to Mr. Prevost.

These affidavits certainly in no way supply the defect in Mr. Prevost's affidavit, if the confession be a defect. But upon these affidavits, the defendant after having been arrested, is now in custody in default of finding security in $5000 that he will not leave the province.

Mr. Richards, Q. C., his counsel, demands the rescinding of these two orders, and his discharge upon the following grounds: 1st, that the proceedings were instituted by plaintiff without leave of the court, or a Judge first obtained, which in the case of a receiver is necessary. 2nd, the affidavit of Prevost of 15th of September, 1885, shows no indebtedness; 3rd, the defendant had no intention of leaving the province. All the evidence adduced goes to show that the appellant intended to leave the country with intent to defraud.

TODAY'S TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Associated Press Despatches to The Times

THE TIMES OFFICE,
Victoria, 4.30 p. m., Nov. 13.

THE PRESIDENT THANKED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.--The Chinese merchants of this city have sent to President Cleveland the following address:

To His Excellency, &c.:--At a meeting of the Chinese merchants of this city, held Nov. 10, 1885, the following resolution was unanimously adopted.

After the many outrages which have been committed upon our fellow countrymen in lawless districts, by desperate, ignorant and wicked men, it gives us, the Chinese merchants of New York, great and unspeakable pleasure to learn that the President of the United States and American people, has issued an official proclamation to protect our people, redress wrongs done to injured, punish malefactors, and prevent by his great power a repetition of the actions which have caused so much suffering and death. We desire to express our gratitude and to thank the president for his righteous course, his courage and love of justice. We assure him that he has increased our admiration and veneration for his fearlessness and wisdom, and our respect and obedience to all his laws. We also assure him respectfully that our countrymen in the United States will endeavor to be good, peaceful, honest and law-abiding citizens, and that they are always anxious and eager to obey the laws and so promote that prosperity and peace which are so dear to them as to the great officers and writers of his land. We instruct our scribes to interpret this into English, and send the same with all expressions of our esteem and veneration to His Excellency.

DESPERADO CAPTURED.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 13.--News has been received here of the capture after a desperate resistance, of Pyle, who has for sixteen months evaded arrest for killing U. S. Commissioner McDonald, in Pickett county. It has been known for months that Pyle was living in the mountains near his home, but the revenue force was unable to take him. Recently he was near the Kentucky line, and a posse found him after a perilous journey through the woods. Pyle refused to surrender and a pitched battle was fought, in which Pyle was shot in the leg. William Pyle, his brother, and Thomas Kidwell are dangerously hurt. Pyle at last gave up, and medical attendance was given the two. Pyle will be arraigned for obstructing Commissioner McDonald in the discharge of his duty. The Federal Courts not having jurisdiction in murder cases, Pyle can also be tried in Pickett county for murder.

THE FIAT ISSUED.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 13.--Lord Dufferin, Viceroy of India, has ordered General Penderegast, commander of the Burmah expeditionary force, to invade forthwith and proceed with all haste to capture Mandalay. The British forces will not cross the frontier immediately. Recent dispatches from Rangoon state that the inhabitants of the districts of Burmah where no large garrisons are maintained, are greatly alarmed over reports that King Theebaw has subsidized several thousand Dacoits to cross the frontier and begin plundering and murdering at the first note of war. The Dacoits are robbers who work in large gangs and are noted for their bold exploits. Having neither baggage nor commissariat, these bands travel with marvelous speed, and it will be hard for the British troops to catch them.

DEAD--MISSING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.--Charles M. Osborne, for many years a prominent figure in Wall street, died last night of kidney disease. He leaves from four to eight millions.

The police were notified last evening to search for Leslie W. Russell, of Canton, N. Y., formerly Attorney General of the State, recent of the university, and a few years since a prominent candidate for U. S. Senator. Mr. Russell was last seen at the Coleman House on Tuesday.

AFFAIR OF HONOR.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 13.--A rumor is current here that General Martinez and Don Antonio Caceres came over from Matamoras, Mexico, yesterday and fought a duel with Winchester rifles, near this city. It is said that Caceres was wounded in the leg at the first fire, and that the principals declared themselves satisfied. The cause of the meeting is not known even in Matamoras. Both gentlemen are prominent in public affairs at Tamaulipas.

A $1,500,000 FIRE.

GALVESTON, Nov. 13.--About midnight last night a fire started in this city and is still raging. At 10 a. m. the fire had reached within three blocks of the beach and is still spreading its path for the point. The efforts of the firemen seem powerless.

LATER.--The burned district covers fifty-two blocks. Many people are homeless. The value of property destroyed is one million five hundred thousand.

OLD LAW REVIVED.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.--The five German Americans, whose expulsion from the Island of Fehr was recently ordered by the government, were expelled under the law of '51, which has been revived and which does not allow foreigners to settle or even to reside temporarily at the place unless the local authorities permit them.

THE LANCASHIRE CUP.

LONDON, Nov. 13.--At the fourth day of the Liverpool Autumn meeting, Sailor Prince and Rimbolton ran a dead heat for the great Lancashire cup stakes. Duke of Richmond third. Stakes were divided. There were six starters.

THE EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.

RANGOON, Nov. 12.--Advices just received from Mandalay state that the Burmese have detained the steamer which was sent to Mandalay to bring away the Europeans, and threaten to burn her if she attempted to leave. Foreigners are not allowed to leave. The British expeditionary force, under Gen. Penderegast will cross the frontier of Burmah on Sunday. The flotilla is now ready and consists of 25 steamers, barges, and floating batteries which being fitted out from six of the largest barges. Each of the floating batteries carries two 60 pound Howitzers and are attended by armed launches and 12 pound siege guns, mounted on the steamer. The force number 10,000 men, seventy camp followers, five hundred mules and two elephant batteries.

THE LIQUOR LICENSE ACTS.

Case Finished and Decision Left to Queen Victoria.

LONDON, Nov. 13.--The Privy Council has finished the discussion of the application of this Canadian Government for leave to appeal from the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada respecting the Canadian liquor license act. This decision in the matter has been left to the Queen, as customary in such cases.

RIEL'S FATE.

A General Impression that He will be Hanged on Monday.

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.--Mr. Connell, member of Parliament for Montreal East, is here and had an interview with all the members of the Cabinet in town, to urge a commutation of Riel's sentence. The Ministers were very reticent. Mr. Connell says he is under the impression that there is very little hope for the condemned man. A number of other Quebec Conservative members have visited Ottawa during the past few days to urge a commutation of the death sentence.

QUEBEC, Nov. 12.--The brief respite accorded to Riel has been accepted here as meaning that his doom is sealed. The two principal French papers in the city, Le Monde and Le Soleil say the feeling and opinions of the French Canadian population of both parties are agreed that Riel will be hanged on Monday next.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.--A Montreal special to the Post says that it is known that a special messenger is on his way to Regina with the official documents from the Governor General, ordering Sheriff Chapleau to proceed with the execution of Riel. Meanwhile, according to a communication received by Bishop Grondin, Riel passes the greater portion of his time in prayer and meditation. He has written farewell epistles to his wife and children, and to his sister, who resides in this city. Within the last few days extra precautions have been taken to prevent any surprise. Guards have been doubled, mounted patrol is always on duty, and none but priests, commanding officers, mounted police and surgeons are permitted within his cell. The cell he occupies is six feet four inches by four, the only articles of furniture being a small iron bed and few chairs. He is an early riser, and is invariably up and dressed before six o'clock. He scarcely completes his toilet when he sinks down upon his knees beside his bed and remains transfixed like a statue in prayer for hours at a time.

QUEBEC, Nov. 12.--It is learned from a reliable source this evening that the Privy Council has forwarded an official letter to Sheriff Chapleau, ordering the execution of Riel on Monday morning at eight o'clock.

EVIDENTLY AFRAID OF IT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.--The Chronicle this morning has the following: "It is evident that the Canadian Pacific is not going to be a formidable rival to the more southerly lines, at least for some time to come. Snow, ice and frost are impediments which it is difficult to overcome. A moderate quantity of snow may be shoveled away, a certain amount of ice may be thawed out, and a certain degree of cold may be endured, but when it comes to mountains of snow, to glaciers of ice and to a steady temperature of 30 degrees below zero for days together, the energies of man are paralyzed by the mere contemplating of such insuperable obstacles. Who is going to run the risk of traveling in a region where a train may be detained for weeks without food or fuel? Who is going to ship goods by trains which may be buried under snow for months? If the Canadian Pacific is ever opened to traffic there is one line of business for which it is especially adapted. This is the manifest destiny of our northern neighbor. The carrying of passengers and ordinary goods she must leave to others."

THE CHINESE GOING.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Nov. 13.--The Chinese at Lorenzo and Boulder creek in this county, were last night given 24 hours notice to leave and are to-day packing up preparatory to departing. No violence was used and the Chinamen agreed to go without protest. An Anti-Chinese meeting will be held in Felton to-night.

A SAD SUM.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Nov. 12.--Chas. H. Barker, single, 28 years of age, has fallen heir to $7,500,000 by the death of his aunt, Mary Ann Thurber of London.

A MOB OF GIRLS.

LONDON, Nov. 12.--Factory girls to-day mobbed Charles Edward Lewis, Conservative member of Parliament, and treated him in a most shameful manner.

COTTON MILL BURNED.

MANCHESTER, Nov. 13.--Harwood's cotton mills at Bolton have been burned. Loss, fifty thousand pounds.

BETTER TREATMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 13.--The Government has ordered the Governor of Coldbath Fields prison to treat Mr. Broad, editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, as a first class misdemeanant.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE DEPUTY SHERIFF OF CARIBOO EXPLAINS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,--In your issue of October 30th, under the heading of "Barkerville News" your correspondent has given utterance to a number of falsehoods, which he fully knows to be such by being too cowardly to sign his name and take the consequences of his ungentlemanly and vindictive production. It would be a great satisfaction to your Cariboo subscribers if you would kindly request your correspondent would be manly enough to sign his name to the scurrilous remarks sent to you for publication under the different headings of "Barkerville News," and "Clippings," provided you can still find room in your paper for letters of that description. In this statement I am supported by far the largest portion of your readers.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

THE TIMES endorses every sentence in the admonition in this morning's Colonist to Victorians, and the duty devolving upon them to still further develope the industries and advantages of this city. Our contemporary properly asks the question whether Victoria shall be the architect of her own fortune, or become the victim of her own supineness. Victoria enjoys advantages that many places would prize highly and with avidity take advantage thereof. We are certain that when the proper time arrives for our energetic enterprising men to reach forth and make a strong bid for a share of the increased trade certain to follow our changed relations with the older provinces that they will prove themselves equal to the occasion. For a community of about 10,000 souls, this city has already achieved wonders, when it is considered that this country is one of "magnificent distances," with a population of less than 50,000, extending from the 49th parallel to the arctic region, and from the far off Peace river and Rocky mountains to the Pacific ocean. British Columbia traders and merchants have demonstrated to the world that they are fully abreast the times and alive to the importance maintaining of their supremacy.

But what of the provincial government? On this head its apologist is painfully silent. Is its policy such as one as to inspire confidence amongst our people as to the future of this province? We unhesitatingly assert that it is not. It is true that at least three of the Cabinet have inaugurated a most miquitous system in our politics in attempting to strengthen themselves with their constituents by endeavoring to retain their confidence, through building roads, in many cases all but useless and unnecessary, while others, absolutely necessary, have been neglected. Favoritism has been shown, not only in road building, but likewise in placing settlers upon lands in sections so remote that for years they will be practically ostracised from society, debarred the advantages of schools and other concomitants of civilization. While the exchequer was full the government was prodigal in its expenditure. Now that it is exhausted, and the representations made during the past session proven to have been but a bubble, it is hinted that affairs will be at a stand still for some time. This is a condition of affairs for which the government and it alone is responsible. Like rats from a sinking ship its friends one by one are casting themselves about for a safe harbor of refuge, well knowing that the craft is frail and that it cannot withstand the breakers that are now looming up, over which the ship of state cannot ride. Well may all right thinking, anxious people ask, what of the future?

SQUATTERS' RIGHTS.

The government organ announces that a satisfactory arrangement has been arrived at between the government and the railway company in respect to the claims of squatters at Coal Harbor. Upon payment of the nominal price of $200 per lot, deeds will be given to these parties, and they will thus be secured in their holdings. The directors of the company, at a meeting on Wednesday last, ratified this agreement, and the question is understood to be finally settled. The organ cannot let the opportunity slip without a "flop" and earnestly bobbing up on the other side of the question. During the controversy last winter and spring, between the squatters and the government, the Colonist never let a chance slip to deride and ridicule the claims of the former. The gold was between the squatters, THE TIMES and justice on one side, and the government, the Colonist and injustice, on the other. If the former have triumphed it is because "the right will prevail" in spite of the base efforts of selfish and designing men aided by a mercenary and unscrupulous press.

RAIDING THE FEDERAL TREASURY.

At a largely attended meeting of the Liberals of Montreal held last week the relations of the several provinces to the present government at Ottawa was seriously and ably discussed. Resolutions were passed to the effect that every federal union should rest upon a perfect equality between the different states or provinces joined together. In every well organized federation the general constitution should guarantee to each state or province an autonomy complete and absolute, and revenues sufficient for the maintenance of its local institutions. That the British North American Act has proved, especially in the last few years, difficult of application with respect to those two essential points, and as these difficulties have already resulted in disputes that are to be regretted, and such as to endanger the existence of the Canadian federation. The insufficiency of the revenues of certain provinces, the arbitrary exercise of the right of disallowance of provincial acts, and the adoption of certain federal measures which have necessitated the intervention of the imperial authorities, have created a general uneasiness, which in the public interest should be dissipated as soon as possible. Several provinces with a view to ameliorate their financial embarrassments have from time to time asked the Federal authorities for better terms, and as these demands are of a nature to diminish the prestige and so endanger the independence of local governments, it is deemed necessary exactly to define the powers, to thoroughly guarantee the autonomy and to permanently assume the revenues of each province. It is only by united action, based upon a previous understanding between all the provinces that this result can be most securely obtained. The association therefore affirmed the necessity of a revision of the Constitution of 1867 in such a manner as will terminate the arbitrary control of the Federal government over provincial legislation, better define the respective powers of the Dominion and the provinces and assure to the provinces sufficient resources to render it unnecessary for them to make periodical raids upon the Federal treasury.

SIR LEONARD TILLEY AND ST JOHN.

One after another of the fathers of Confederation are either leaving the arena of active political life, are going to that "bourne from whence no traveler returneth." This time it is SIR LEONARD TILLEY, who has at last dropped out of active political life. A few days since he was sworn in as Governor of New Brunswick, a position which he held from 1873 to 1878, and for which he is well fitted, as for the past thirty years he has been the leading figure in New Brunswick politics, and is as popular in the Blue Nose province as SIR JOHN is in Ontario, or SIR CHARLES TUPPER in Nova Scotia. SIR LEONARD has, since his re-entrance into politics in 1878, represented St. John city, a narrow constituency which he carried by a majority of nine in 1871, and of 131 in 1882. The Liberals have all along contended that the constituency was normally Liberal and would go that way were the Conservative condidate other than SIR LEONARD TILLEY. The writ is to be immediately issued, the government not feeling it at all necessary in this case to follow the precedent set by itself in the recent vacancy caused in St. John city and county by the death of HON. ISAAC BURPEE, when the issue of the writ was delayed for eight months. The Liberal candidate will probably either be GEORGE MCLEOD, who was defeated by SIR LEONARD TILLEY in 1882, and by MR. C. A. EVERETT in 1885, or MR. SILAS B. AYLWARD, a prominent St. John lawyer.

AN UNPOPULAR MOVE.

The annexation and independence advocates are not meeting with much success. CAPT. PALLISER, whose enthusiasm on behalf of Canada, says the Canadian Gazette, seems on the increase rather than the wane as his stay in the country is prolonged, writes to a Canadian contemporary, expressing gratification that at the recent Convention of Young Liberals at Toronto the questions of annexation and independence were voted down. Writing "as a parent and a soldier," CAPTAIN PALLISER expresses his belief that Canada's youth "must be aware of the cost of the military and naval preparations essential to the position of independence which alone can command respect. They are wiser than their would-be instructors, for they know their country is not yet prepared for these exertions and sacrifices. I believe Canada's destiny is to become a nation, and an example to the people of the United States in those solid, wise and patient qualities which distinguish a superior race." CAPTAIN PALLISER seems to us right in urging that there can be no better antidote to what might be termed provincialism than a full acquaintance with the great resources of the Dominion. "The great Northwest should be visited, and a tour in the Switzerland of Canada—British Columbia—would do much to enlarge ideas which could not otherwise take in the future of these splendid regions, which are their country as much as the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec are."

MR. GLADSTONE, in writing to the newspapers, refuses to pronounce between two Liberal candidates for the same seat. He wishes the constituency to decide.

IT is said that the families of more than 40 of the Toronto volunteers who went to the Northwest are still in receipt of assistance.

ITS TRANQUIL PASSENGER.

The Broadway Conductor Finally Escapes Her by Help of a Wicked Lie.

[New York Sun.]

A woman hailed a Broadway car at Thirty fourth street, and stood still until the car came to a full stop. It was in the morning, it was a crowded car, and bedlam time. The woman had a large, trustful, and tranquil face. She stood on the gutter and called: "Conductor, do you pass Grace church?"

"Yes, we do," said the conductor; "are you going this week?"

"Well," said the woman peacefully, "I think I will go now."

"Well, I would not be too sudden about it," said the conductor as she walked toward the car; "it might cause a rush of blood to the head."

There were seventeen men by actual count on the platform, and most of them were obliged to step out on the sidewalk so as to give the large and leisurely woman a chance to get into the car. Meanwhile a loud and angry chorus rose from the blockaded cars in the rear. She stopped on a man's toes with such frequency and effect that the man gave her a seat to save his corns, and after another man had raised and subsequently lowered the window for her, she had time to keep the conductor waiting an extraordinary length of time while she explored her pocket for five cents. Presently the conductor put his head into the door and yelled "Grace church!" He rang the bell, and the car came to a full stop. The woman rose slowly and went ponderously to the rear of the car. Here she rocked her way, facing north, to the platform, placed both hands on the rail, gazed placidly through her glasses, and said:

"Well, that is what I call a very pretty church. I have often heard tell——"

Well, that's what I call a pretty church.

"Oh, have you," said the conductor in a cold and Boston-like voice. "Perhaps you would like to stand here and look at it a little while longer."

"No," said the impervious woman, pleasantly. "I only wanted to see it. Tell me when you come to Bleecker street, will you, please?"

The conductor rang his bell, the seventeen men hung on in various ways, and the ample one returned to her seat. A small man had taken it. She tapped him on the shoulder with her fan; he rose without a word, and she sank down in his place. Again the conductor put his head in the door, and this time he yelled with mighty force, "Bleecker street!" With a face that was the picture of pleasant anticipation the stout passenger wended her way to the rear platform again and gazed benignly about.

"Which is the bank?" she asked slowly.

"There yed of the conductor, pointing with his right hand.

"Is that the bank that was robbed?"

"It is."

"It is quite a large bank, isn't it?"

The conductor said in a hollow and pacadonic voice that it was. Then he recovered himself, removed his hat politely, and said:

"Madam, will you be kind enough to take the car after this, please? We don't go any further. No checks are needed, as we transfer the passengers here every day." With an agreeable smile the stout lady stepped to the ground, and turned toward the following car. The conductor rang the bell briskly, the seventeen men jumped for their places on the rear platform, and the car crawled down Broadway.

Sharp Tricks of Dog Dealers.

[N. W. ex. Tribune.]

"The tricks of the dog trade will compare favorably with those of horse dealers in auction and sale stables," said a gentleman who indulges in the luxury of fancy and expensive dogs to a reporter. "A dog of mine, which I valued highly, was stolen," he continued, "and I offered a large reward for his recovery. For days my place of business was besieged by dogs, and at least 60 per cent. of them tallied with the description which I had published of mine. They were colored, and clipped, and many of them that are trained to pose as lost or stolen dogs greeted me with a bark of recognition. There is a brand in the ear of my dog, however, and through the agency of a dog fancier I did not mention it in the advertisement. The other day I was accosted by a supposed reputable dog fancier who wanted to know if it would be worth $50 to me to become the owner of a certain spaniel, worth two or three times that amount. He explained to me how all traces could be removed by which the animal could be identified, and that by keeping it in confinement for three months it would grow out of all remembrance.

"The dog exchange plays an important part in the sale of fancy animals. Through it a dealer, who is a member of the exchange, is loaned at any time any kind of a dog that he may wish. If the dog is sold, one of another species, preferably is worth as much, is returned in its place. Another feature of the business is conducted by women who hire out as chaperones to persons who have valuable dogs. The dogs and the servant soon disappear, and all that is heard of it is an advertisement in one of the papers. If a tempting reward is offered for its return, a mongrel soon appears, and it is returned. A woman was in my store to-day, and wanted to sell me three dogs, worth at least $100 apiece, for $25 each. I did not want them, and she then offered the lot for $40. They were stolen, of course, and the woman was trying to dispose of them."

Mexican Widows and Orphans.

[Boston Cor. Boston Globe.]

If a Mexican lady is widowed and has no means, a family council is held. Her nearest relatives or those of her deceased husband charge themselves with the obligation of her support, and provision is made for her and her daughters. Even if the widow and young ladies should be accomplished, they are not expected to work in their trade.

On the contrary, if a widowed mother is wealthy, she can not be independent, custom exacts that the care of her property and the education of her sons shall be delegated to trusty relatives, and, unless she is really an old woman with adult children, she takes other roads with her kindred or keep some staid, matronly person in her household by way of protection against officers or scandal. Mexican gentlemen are so thoroughly imbued with the idea of woman's helplessness that they do not seem to regard the charge of a lonely or female as an unusual or onerous duty. Indeed, they usually fill the duties of heroes so really and obligingly that

WOMEN WHO WORK

IN THE MARKET GARDENS OF THE SUBURBS.

Chicago Gardeners Furnish Employment to 1,000 Poles, Bohemians, and Germans—Physical and Mental Characteristics of the Hippe of the Future.

[Chicago News.]

Every morning from the beginning of seed time until frost comes and all the green things droop their heads and die, fully 1,000 women go out to work in the market gardens in the immediate vicinity of Chicago. Some of these women are aged, some in middle life, and a few are still girls. The majority, however, are wives who have husbands unqualified to support their families or, as is the case so often among the ranks of ignorant people, too dissolute or lazy to do so. They are without exception foreigners—some Bohemians, some Poles, and others Germans. They have been reared in the land of their birth to farm labor, and know scarcely anything else. Their knowledge of housekeeping is limited, for the houses they have lived in from infancy have been but shelters little better than those given to cattle, and their means for home-making of the rudest kind.

They can make a greasy soup of pork and a bit of mutton or veal, prepare milk porridge, or boil a pot of strong, coarse coffee, but there their skill in cookery ends. They cannot so much as bake a loaf of black bread. They know, as a rule, no more of the ordinary simple details of housekeeping and home making than does the squaw whose home is a teepee, or the gypsy who roams eight months of the year about the country in a covered wagon. Many of them do not know how to cleanse their garments. When they indulge in the process called "washing," it is a mere wetting that bears no resemblance to the genuine removal of dirt. In the winter time many of these women, especially the Poles, would be glad during the long, cold months to do any kind of rough housework, but know not how it is done. "I can you not scrub the floor?" is the question they hear on every side at home as they are here. They will argue with one accord, after they have stared at the questioner stolidly for a moment, reply: "We may not be better off, but bye and bye our children will." The answer seldom varies.

The market gardens stretch to the south, west and north of the city. Cabbage is grown extensively to the south and southwestward, and its cultivation gives employment to a large number of women. Lettuce, radishes, onions, cucumbers, spinach, and so and celery comprise the greater part of the garden crop grown close to the city. The larger vegetables are raised farther in the country. Several crops of each of the smaller vegetables are grown successively while summer lasts. The first crop of spinach, lettuce and radishes are grown under glass, spinach being put in in the autumn. Thus some of the garden women here work the entire year. These workers have been thoroughly trained and their services are more valuable than those of an ordinary field laborer.

Swearing Falling into Disrepute.

[New York Letter.]

It is beyond question that swearing is beginning in these days to fall into disrepute, not because of its wickedness, but because it is more and more regarded as in bad taste. Formerly, even in the politest circles, men would rip out oaths, and such expressions as "—ed" abound in the old novels and dramas. A gentleman was expected to swear roundly, and the fashion was extremely, here and there, their rough and vicious profanity, so that they came to be known on the continent as "the Goddams."

Now swearing is frowned upon among educated and cultivated Englishmen. It violates their first canons of good breeding, which is self control, and is tabooed not because it is wrong, but because it is distasteful. Just as intoxication, or the too free use of alcoholic stimulants, is looked upon as vulgar and offensive indulgence, so the use of oaths is objected to as essentially ungentlemanlike.

From having been the loudest and coarsest of swearers, English gentlemen have become the most habitual of profane expressions, and even the mildest expletives are accounted by them as in bad taste. Soldiers and sailors formerly looked upon swearing as a professional necessity, and perhaps still do so, but probably a man like Wolseley shares the feeling of other English gentlemen with respect to profanity, and we know that Grant was throughout his campaigns in the north and south, and even when the air was thick with shell and the air was often blue with

ALL ABOARD—FOR MONTREAL.

The First Through Train from the Pacific for Montreal.

Mr. Van Horne Expects to Reach that City on Tuesday.

Mr. Van Horne and his friends left Victoria on Thursday evening on the Yosemite, and made the run to the Fraser in five hours. They reached Mr. Ewen's cannery at 9 o'clock, where a halt was made, and an inspection made of the establishment, Mr. Ewen kindly explaining the whole process of canning to the party, who took the liveliest interest in the concern. Surprise was expressed at the magnitude of Mr. Ewen's cannery and its completeness. Mr. Ewen presented the gentlemen with cases of his brands which were received with thanks and taken on board for Montreal.

AT WESTMINSTER.

New Westminster was reached at noon. A large assemblage was congregated at the wharf to greet their arrival. Mr. Van Horne, accompanied by the company's engineers went over the proposed route of the line to the station grounds. The site was approved of by Mr. Van Horne as well as the route of line along the river front.

The Board of Trade afterwards waited on the General Manager where an informal discussion took place on matters relating to the New Westminster branch, the importance of New Westminster's commanding position and the magnificent agricultural country of that district, and the certainty of the same becoming of great value.

ALL ABOARD FOR MONTREAL.

The run from New Westminster was made by the Yosemite in fine style. In about five minutes after reaching the Hammond station, the General Manager shouted "All aboard for Montreal," the throttle of that splendid locomotive No. 148 was opened and off the gorgeous train sped at a rapid rate, amidst the cheering of the crowd assembled to witness the departure of the first cast bound train from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast. The train, as already stated was drawn by locomotive No. 148, it will draw the train to Winnipeg. In addition to the baggage car and a parlor smoker the train consisted of Mr. Stephen's private carriage, the Matapedia, the general managers, Saskatchewan and General Superintendent Egan's coach, all gotten up in the most elegant style. Mr. Van Horne's party will reach Montreal on Tuesday night. Including a short stoppage in Winnipeg, the distance from Hammond to Montreal, 2,895 miles, will be accomplished in 120 hours.

Immediately after the Montreal train had pulled out, General Superintendent Haney's party, comprising Mr. James Ross and his friends from the mountains went on board and followed the first train with great rapidity.

THE QUEEN'S CONSIGNEES.

The Queen of the Pacific, which arrived this morning at 7:30, brought freight for: A Ofner, A J Rowbotham, A Boast & Co, A Lewis & Co, Albion Iron Works, A Cowan, A & W Wilson, A Gilmore, Leuchenat & Co, Brewster & Co, Bush & Spencer, Burns & Co, B Williams & Co, Carne & Munsie, Chas Gowan, Chen Chong, C Strauss & Co, Clark & Nicholson, C A Lombard & Co, D W Higgins, D Green, D W Ebberts, E G Prior, E B Marvin, E Sorge, Edward Vine, Fell & Co, Frank Kee, Gutman & Frank, George Vienna, G B Orsano, Geo Redgo, Geo Thomson, Geo Morrison, Henry Short, H Mansell, Henry Jewell, H Waller, Hamm & Marchand, H F Steward, Henderson Bros, H M Naval Yard, John Weiter, J Cunningham & Co, J Isaacs & Co, John Murray, J Scht, J Gosnell, James Fisher, J Sommer, Julius Barron, J A M, J H Ferguson & Co, Kwong Chung, Karts & Co, J L & J Levy, L Goodacre, Lewis Lewis, Langley & Co, Mathews Richards & Tye, M W Waitt & Co, Manu & Heron, M Moss, McNaughton Bros, Neufelder & Ross, Nen Sung, P McQuade & Son, P T Johnson & Co, Pendrey & Co, R Carr, R Baker & Son, R S O'Brien, Russell & Co, R Maynard, Richard Watkins, S J Pitts, S Leiser, S Baker & Co, S L Kelly & Son, S H Webb, Schnoter & Byrne, S & B, Steward & Bartlet, Thos Earle, T R Hemke, T N Hibben, Turner Beeton & Co, Times, TY in dia, Welsh Bithet & Co, W H Bennett, Wah Hing, W G Cameron, W G Luker, W D & Co, Woods Turner & Gamble, Wm Tietjen, Wells Fargo & Co, Yee Wo.

THE LOST FOUND.

The two Indians lost from the schooner Favorite on the 1st of August, while out seal fishing, landed on the Lhakan Coast, and after ten days arrived at a Russian village near the Aleutian Islands. They became separated from the schooner by a thick fog, which lasted about four days. At the Russian village they were picked up by an American cutter and taken to San Francisco, and forwarded from there to Victoria by the English Consul, arriving this morning by the Queen. The Indians belong to Hesquiot, on the west coast of Vancouver Island. While making a landing on the coast their canoe was smashed, and for six days after they were wandering along the desolate coast before coming to the small village, where they were hospitably entertained. With the exception of what they could pick up on the shore, when the tide was out, they were for ten days without food.

TIME'S WHIRLIGIGS.

"An Old Stager," in a morning contemporary asserts that the editor of the Colonist possesses more "commodities" than any other man in the city, and he might well add the province. In the early days, when after the yellow dust on the Fraser, the sapient editor proclaimed himself an American, thanking God that he was not a "Britisher." The scene as well as the times has changed since then, and now the same individual throws up his cap and shouts most lustily, thanking God that he is a Britisher. It was ever thus with the Colonist editor. However there is still hope for him—

For while the lamp holds out to burn
The greatest sinner may return.

A "STAND OFF" STALE JOKE.

The Colonist this morning endeavours to pass off on its readers as original a very stale joke on the Canadian, as the following from the Merchant Traveller will attest: "A robber met a coal dealer on a lonely road and stopped him. "Your money or your life," said the robber. "Who are you?" asked the coal dealer. "I'm a highwayman," replied the man. "Good enough," continued the coal dealer, "I'm a low-wayman. Shake. We should be friends." And they were." Our contemporary had better try again.

THE COLONIST "BEAR."

We have been requested to state that the announcement in this morning's Colonist to the effect that the C. P. R. Co. will shortly place 4000 lots on the market, is unauthorized by the company, and is not only misleading but false. In due time, no doubt, lots will be offered by the company, as well as by private owners, but it will be after ample notice has been served upon. The effort of the Colonist to "bear" Vancouver's first market that paper the laughing stock of the province.

TWO NOTED MINSTRELS

Who Have Won Fortunes, and What They Say About Stage Life.

"Billy" Emerson has recently made a phenomenal success in Australia, and is rich.

Emerson was born at Belfast in 1840. He began his career with Joe Sweeney's minstrels in Washington in 1857. Later on he jumped into prominence in connection with Newcomb's minstrels, with whom he visited Germany. He visited Australia in 1874, and on his return to America joined Haverley's minstrels in San Francisco at $300 a week and expenses. With this troupe he played before Her Majesty the Queen, the Prince of Wales, and royalty generally. After this trip he leased the Standard Theater, San Francisco, where for three years he did the largest business ever known in minstrelsy. In April last he went to Australia again, where he has "beaten the record."

"Billy" is a very handsome fellow, an excellent singer, dances gracefully, and is a true humorist.

"Yes, sir, I have traveled all over the world, have met all sorts of people, come in contact with all sorts of customs, and had all sorts of experiences. One must have a constitution like a locomotive to stand it."

"Yes, I know, I seem to bear it like a major, and I do, but I tell you candidly that with the perpetual change of diet, water, and climate, if I had not maintained my vigor with regular use of Warner's Safe Cure I should have gone under long ago."

George H. Primrose, whose name is known in every amusement circle in America, is even more emphatic, if possible, than "Billy" Emerson, in commendation of the same article to sporting and traveling men generally, among whom it is a great favorite.

Emerson has grown rich on the Coast, and so has Primrose, because they have not squandered the public's "favors."

FARWELL NOTES.

Gossip From the Interior City—Mining and Building Operations and Incidents.

Farwell is subjected with honors just now, having the president of the C. P. R., Mr. Van Horne, Mr. Donald A. Smith and a number of directors of that company. They have three very handsome private cars, those of Mr. Van Horne, Mr. Smith and Mr. Egan's. They will wait here until the iron is connected and be in at the death, viz., when last spike is driven.

Three tons of quartz have been shipped from Big Bend, to be assaye at Jersey City. Messrs. Barrett & Co. shipped a ton; Mr. Ross, manager of the C. P. R., Mr. Holt, and Mr. Dan Man, are shipping two tons in the same place. The returns will be looked for very anxiously by Farwell, as that place will receive the lion's share of the benefit from the Big Bend mining industry.

The large bridge over the Columbia, at Farwell, will be reconstructed this winter and will give employment to a large number of men.

A number of mud slides have taken place, in consequence of late heavy rains between Farwell and Eagle Pass.

Mr. Robert Leemon has built a fine new store at Farwell, and is doing a good business.

The mounted police under Major Steel are still with us, but expect to go east about the 10th inst.

BARKERVILLE NEWS.

A Chinaman Breaks Gaol—A Correspondent Corrected.

BARKERVILLE, 6th Nov., 1885.

A Chinaman, under committal for trial for robbery and serious assault upon three of his countrymen, broke jail on Monday night last and has not yet been recaptured. A reward of $50 is offered to any one who will return him to custody, but it is not likely he will be seen again in these parts. If he skips from the province altogether no one will feel an exceeding degree of sorrow. On Monday evening, after his committal by the magistrate, the prisoner was locked in his cell by Sergeant Lindsay, but on going to pay his morning visit the Sergeant was surprised to find his bird flown. By some means or other, no doubt from one of his fellows, he had got possession of a knife and with it had cut his way through the board partition of his cell, and then climbing through a trap door to the attic he forced a hole through the roof and was off. Search was made everywhere in the neighborhood next day but without success.

A chap who is afflicted with the disease known as cacoethes scribendi, and who is very much too smart to live in so distant and obscure a place as Barkerville, gets off in last week's issue of THE TIMES what is intended as a very sharp and sarcastic allusion to my letters on the school suit, but which hits nobody quite so hard as it does the stupid writer of the piece himself. I am sorry to notice in the same letter an account of an alleged shooting affair, which so grossly, and without any doubt purposely, misrepresents the facts in the case that your readers here, with very few exceptions, are indignant that so unscrupulous a person should be allowed under the guise of your news correspondent to vent his ill-nature and spite against citizens of the place. It would be bad enough to write as this person has done if he had the manliness to do it over his own signature, but when under the semi-editorial incognito of a news correspondent he begins to distort facts in such a way as to satisfy what it is well understood here are his personal grudges, it is high time for all good citizens to provide against such gross prostitution of the true mission of the press. In the relation referred to the ordinary reader would understand that the young man in question, who by the way is a provincial officer, had on one occasion fired "point-blank" at a white miner and on another presented a pistol also at a white miner, whereas the truth is he has never fired "point blank" at anybody, and it has always been in connection with the discharge of his duty among Chinamen that these so-called shooting scrapes have occurred. Why could not your correspondent have done the young man the justice to have stated this, instead of by his use of the word "miner" unqualified, leaving it to be inferred, as the writer apparently wished, that a white man was shot at. Nobody, I suppose, uses the word "miner" unqualified, unless a white miner is meant. I don't wish any one to understand from this that I think it any the less odious to shoot at a Chinaman than at a white man; but all collectors of taxes among Chinamen are agreed that it is sometimes necessary to judiciously scare them into doing their duty to the Provincial Treasury.

As a purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla acts directly and promptly. A single bottle will prove its merits. Many thousands of people are yearly saved from dangerous fevers by the exercise of a little timely care in properly cleansing the system by the use of this remedy.

Avoid the harsh, irritating, griping compounds so often sold as purging medicines, and correct the irregularities of the bowels by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills, which are mild and gentle, yet thorough and searching in their action.

MARINE NOTES.

The Queen of the Pacific arrived at the outer wharf at 7:30 a. m. The last half of the voyage was very boisterous.

The Eliza Anderson dragged her anchor in Port Townsend bay yesterday and drifted against the wharf. The tug Tyee hauled her off, the steamer not having sustained much damage. The Eliza is still in charge of the customs.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

The secretary of the Canadian Pacific railway company submits the following official statement of the earnings and expenditure to the shareholders:

	Month, 1885.	Jan. 1st to Sept. 1, 1885
Gross Earnings	$853,042	$5,928,022
Working Expenses	631,23	3,919,371
Net Profits	$220,809	$2,008,651

In September, 1884, the net profits were $232,311
And from January 1st to September 30, 1884, there was a profit of $77,303

The gain in net profits over the same period last year is therefore, for September, $124,652; and from January 1st to September 30th, $1,931,468. The gross earnings for September includes $110,000 for carriage of construction material, as against $80,000 during the same month last year, but as it was carried at absolute cost, the net results not affected.

The Disputed Race,

WRITTEN DECISION OF JUDGES.

(Copy.)

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 7, 1885.

WE the undersigned, Judges of the Free For All Race, stated this day, have considered, on request of the Jockey Club, claimed by the drivers to great each horse was beat, the remaining heats of the race to be trotted one week from this day. Parties interested shall agree upon the Judges upon the day of race. Horses to start at half-o'clock sharp promptly.

THE RACES—A CARD.

As the honorable Judges have decided that the A. race ran and trotted on Saturday last is to be trotted over again on Saturday next, I am obliged, for the sake of the sport, if not I shall return the entrance money and give the balance of the purse to the Orphans' Home, as part of the money was public money. Each man who entered a horse for that purse will be entitled to choose a Judge, and neither of the other parties will be allowed to object. The Judges' decision shall be final whether the race is on the same and same horse, or whether the money shall be given above mentioned.

There is also a match race for $100 a side between Dodger's "Flying Cloud" and Adamson's "Gen. Shields and Jack," half mile heats. There will be no waiting for a stake; they will be started low track, and have agreed to be tapped off if not more than 20 feet apart.

The hurdle race which was to have taken place last Saturday will come off next Saturday. Over nine flights, between the first and second heats of the race, two minutes allowed. The race certainly shall come off on time.
